

Fred Harrison has just published a book of exceptional value to our cause. BEYOND BREXIT: THE BLUEPRINT.

Here is the front and back cover story: How to fund a revitalised Europe and honour the UK referendum Beyond Brexit: The Blueprint – Powerful land owners twice blocked the blueprint that would serve as the model for peace and prosperity in Europe in the 20th century. Will the democratic mandate be thwarted in the 21st century?

FRED HARRISON & MASON GAFFNEY: Back cover: “The People of Britain spoke truth to power with their vote on Brexit. The majority rejected the advice of most MPs: remain in the European Union. And they faced down the financial institutions which warned that a terrible price would be paid for regaining national sovereignty. But the authors of Beyond Brexit reveal that the nation’s aspirations will be thwarted by home-grown taxes. Treadmill Taxes exercise the power to defeat the mission on which Theresa May’s government has embarked. Those taxes deprive the UK of about f500 billion every year in lost wealth and welfare. VAT deprives Europe of about €1 trillion.

But there is hope. With their referendum vote, responsibility fell on the people to mandate the financial reform that would convert the UK into a beacon of hope for the nations of Europe. Emancipation from Treadmill Taxes would free the UK to conclude a mutually beneficial deal with the EU, which must reform itself. Its tax regime drives citizens out of their home communities in search of work, shifting the costs of mis-governance onto others. Legislation to reform the public’s finances was twice enacted by Westminster in the 20th century. Parliament shamed itself by failing to honour the democratic will. The historic mandate for change must now be renewed, to establish that sovereignty resides in the will of the people, not in the private interests of rent-seekers:
